 the ice bound fishing fleet shines in the sun as the ice crystals reflect the rays.

 The ice is an ever present hazzard to the winter fleet as the buildup adds tons to the superstructure of the boats. The Rush, in
 crushing weight in her rigging. One can imagine the reluctant roll as she made port.
 The Captain Bill, bottom, is decorated with salt ice after making her home port. The

Suddenly Hot Contest

MATTAPOISETT ELECTION

Mattapoisett's Town Election has suddenly come to life in a very healthy surge. Just as it seemed that there was no need to go vote, candidates have taken papers out for several town offices to make a very interesting contest of the election to come.

George White will oppose Donald Linhares for the seat on the Board of Selectmen. Mr. White, who served for a number of years on the Board, was defeated by Mr. Linhares in 1968.

Veteran Assessor Enoch LeBaron Winslow, who has served in that post for a consecutive 46 years, will be facing 2 candidates: Wallace Goodnow and Clarence Verdi have taken out papers for the post.

Manuel Charles Rosenfield will oppose incumbent Pamela Humphrey for trustee of the Library. Opposing Dr. Stanley Mysliwy on the Board of Health will be Michael J.

Hickey, Frank J. Linhares and John D. Drury, Jr. John Denham, tree warden, will be opposed by Charles W. Duponte. Paul M. Kelley, Jr. will try to unseat Roscoe E. Barstow on the board of water commissioners.

A-1 Comedy at Art Center

"MARY MARY"

Those who enjoy good comedy and like to leave a play reluctantly were treated to a comedy about real people in a believable situation in the Marion Art Center production of "Mary Mary". This play by Jean Kerr, amusing in line and situation, gives the actors full opportunity to generate more laugh voltage through delivery and acting ability.

Ted Babbitt, a veteran of many a memorable comedy at the Center, appeared in the role of Mary's former husband. He is excellent both in his delivery and the silent development that can be read off his face. He puts on the part of Bob and wears it.

Joan Olsen, who plays opposite Ted as Mary, did a superb job. Her role is a subtle creation. She makes her Mary attractive, exciting and yet reveals the gentle flaw of low self esteem. Miss Olsen makes Mary a woman of wit with a failing that enhances her appeal.

Andy Witt appears as the third point in the triangle. He plays an old friend of Bob's, a friend who finds Mary most attractive. When he starts to date Mary, the protective and possessive instinct rises to the surface in former husband Bob.

Nancy Thomas is Bob's fiancée Tiffany Richards. She forms the fourth point of a rather complex triangle. In this role, she plays a young health addict engaged to Bob. Bob, whose protective and possessive instinct is aroused by Mary's return, suddenly is embarrassed by Tiffany's presence on the scene.

Rick Swain completes the cast as Bob's lawyer and friend who is attempting to untangle the finances of Bob so that he can afford to marry the wealthy Tiffany.

The play was directed by Nancylee S. Gaucher. She took an excellent cast, a good comedy and turned out a finished production that will be recalled with pleasure by audience and participants alike.

NATURE ABHORS A VACUUM Editorial, D.C.J.

This law from an old physics class keeps nagging me whenever I consider the most powerful force of nature ever faced by a local government - namely a public school system. No longer can homeowners complacently stay home or trustingly vote a couple of million here, another million there, without a good hard look at his own income and the taxes that are demanded from it.

People, who already feel a crisis exists in their lives due mainly to the excessive increase of taxation by every level of government, will do well to decide in person on new demands by the school system and vote only after the facts are crystal clear.

It was only a few years ago, you recall, when Mattapoisett was so rich in classroom space that it was suggested that the Town rent space to other towns. Then "nature" rushed to fill the vacuum. Center School became a storehouse for a huge portable hospital. This enormous facility is somehow to be erected by the Civil Defense following a nuclear attack. Drums were beaten for a kindergarten which was duly voted and installed in a very nice basement room of Center School. Now, somehow, the original room has been found wanting. Some very expensive baby sitting service is occupying two very valuable former classrooms in the Center School and so it goes.

The people on the School Needs Committee have the burden of selling a $900,000.00 school addition to the taxpayer on the basis of information supplied them by the educators who have the unique ability to fill any given space.

Let us bear in mind some other facts. Waiting in the wings is the bill for building and staffing the new Junior High School at Old Rochester. Waiting in the wings is a committee appointed to study the town's Vocational School needs. Waiting in the wings is the Pollution Abatement Committee. These projects are yet to demand huge new tax increases to finance their babies.

All of which means what? A dangerous crisis is in sight. Many people will soon find property taxes too excessive to pay. The town is forced by the Commonwealth to rubber stamp the school budgets. Whatever luxuries can be included in these budgets are assured of passage. The only option retained by the towns (after the Commonwealth has dictated the requirements for a school building) is the simple acceptance or rejection of a new school building. It is a matter of survival that the homeowner exercise this only remaining privilege. It is imperative that each taxpaying individual carefully weigh the consequences of expending huge sums against the need for this spending and vote accordingly.

It is important to attend the Special Town Meeting to be held February 17th to consider and vote on an addition to Old Hammondtown School.

The problem is self generating. The simple fact is that magnificent school buildings attract large families and large numbers of young families. Far from paying their way, these new people force the construction of new schools in a pace so rapid as to place an intolerable burden on that taxpayer who is not responsible for the problems but is forced to subsidize it.

The time is fast approaching when school buildings must be utilized to a far greater degree than they are today. Art rooms and music rooms should be classrooms. These million dollar buildings cannot remain idle half the day and through the summer. Overlapping or double sessions must make full use of these buildings. The same care must be exercised, in the future, to provide school facilities as is now used by the individual to provide a home for his family. It must surely come to the point where a building must be within the means of the community just as a home must be within the budget of a family.

LETTER WRITING CAMPAIGN FOR POWS

The Old Rochester Regional Teachers' Club is presently conducting a letter writing campaign on behalf of American prisoners of war now held in North Vietnam. The P.O.W. Week of Concern began Monday, January 18th.

The aim of the campaign is to have individually written letters sent to the President of North Vietnam. These letters will express the concern of American citizens over the treatment being extended to American prisoners of war. American prisoners have not been fully identified by North Vietnam; they are not permitted regular communication with their families; the sick and wounded should be immediately repatriated. The prisoner of war facilities have not been opened to neutral inspection teams.

All of these facts and conditions are in violation of the Geneva Convention Agreement, signed by North Vietnam in 1957, regarding treatment of prisoners of war.

The Old Rochester Teachers' Club members have placed displays on the prisoner of war issue through the school. Mrs. Teresa Getchell, wife of P.O.W. Captain Paul Getchell, spoke to students at a special assembly on Wednesday. Mrs. Getchell resides in Buzzards Bay and is an active member of the National League of Families of American Prisoners of War in Southeast Asia.

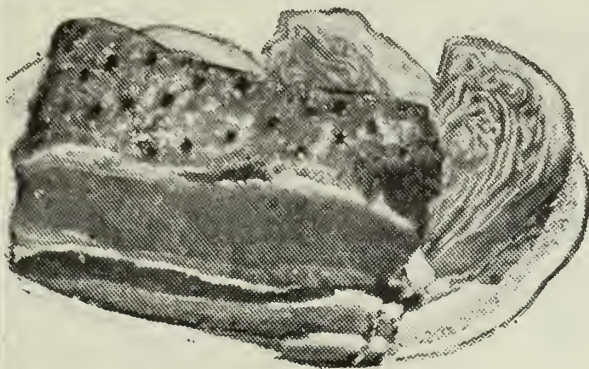

All those taking part in the campaign at Old Rochester hope that members of the community will express their concern by writing a letter. A 25¢ stamp is needed.

P.O.W. Week--Write!

Mattapoisett Selectmen have issued a proclamation designating the week of January 24th as Prisoner of War Week and urge all citizens to write letters to the leaders of North Vietnam, the Vietcong, the Pathet Lao and Red China to apply the Geneva Conventions to our men in their prisoner-of-war camps.

Addresses to write to are as follows:

Each year this couple takes a month's trip bringing most interesting color back with them. They were escorted to the altar where the worthy steward Mark Breton pinned a boutonniere on Mr. Smith and placed a crown on his head, while the worthy lecturer pinned a corsage on Mrs. Smith and the worthy master Susan LaFleur placed her crown on her head giving them the title of the "Never say no to the Grange Couple". Mrs. Smith, past lecturer, then presided over the birthday table.

A trio, consisting of Earle Wilson, Herbert LaFleur and Dennis Sylvia, with Walter Caswell at the piano, rendered several selections during the evening.

A candle lighting ceremony was conducted by the past lecturers. Those present were Cora Smith, Dennis Sylvia, Ollie Gifford, Christine Bence, Ruby Barber and Mildred LeBaron. Each gave a resume of one of their successful programs during their regime as lecturer. Other lecturers not present were Anna Bradley, Isabel Farwell and William Suzan.
